

TacticalTradingSignal.com Introduces Two New Top-Performing Investment Strategies for 2008

SALINA, Kan., Jan. 15/PRNewswire/-- Starting in 2008, TacticalTradingSignal.com is going to offer two new top performing investment strategies. Tactical Trading Signal.com will be offering a new international and sector rotation strategy which will offer their subscribers even more flexibility. The new international and sector rotation strategies have been tracked by TimerTrac.com, a leading third-party benchmarking service that objectively reports active equity analyst performance based on daily market recommendations for nearly 600 active money management strategies. The rotation strategies have been in development since June 29th, 2001, and have been tracked by TimerTrac.com since April 2006. It is only after an exhausting testing period that Tactical Trading Signal.com concluded that it is now time to offer these new investment strategies to their subscribers. These new strategies have earned Top Rankings within the TimerTrac.com Top Performers list. The results of TimerTrac.com Top Performers list are over a period from December 29, 2006 through December 31, 2007. The S&P 500 index gained 3.53% over this same time period.

1st	Asset Allocation: Equity/Bond/Sectors	TacticalTradingSignal.com Sector Rotation Strategy	16.15%
1st	Intl Equity: All	TacticalTradingSignal.com International Rotation Strategy	23.19%

TacticalTradingSignal.com's wide array of investment strategy choices have set them apart from the other online subscription services. CEO and President Jack Schwartz said "Our Long and Short, Leveraged, Long Only, and our new International and Sector Rotation Strategies have performed extraordinary in both rising and falling markets. This has set us apart from much of our competition. With the work from our Chief Analyst, Rick Roberts, we have maintained a consistent record that few others can match."

TacticalTradingSignal.com provides numerous investment strategies to help the do-it-yourself investor take charge of his or her investment decisions. Our advanced technical models were designed to provide investors with information to help them with their investment decisions in both up and down markets. As a result, TacticalTradingSignal.com can help individual investors manage the emotional side of investing.
